Dick Clark Faces More Investigation

WASHINGTON, May 1 — (UPI) — TV disc jockey Dick Clark goes back before House payola investigators today for a second day of questioning on whether his financial investments influenced his playing of records.

Clark, idol of the teen-age set, told the House subcommittee a four-hour session Friday that he had parlayed investments of $53,773 into a cash return of $286,604 and a current net worth of $576,596.

BUT HE insisted he did nothing improper and did not take payola.

Opera Group Presents Two Last Performances

...era presented to the Brigham Young University stage, in the final Opera Workshop presentation of the year.

...short operas, "Gianni Schicchi" by Puccini and "The Medium" by Gian-Carlo Menotti, presented May 6, 7 and 8 in Smith Auditorium. They begin at 8:15 p.m. All seats reserved, but are free to students with activity cards.

DON L. Earl and Brandt are directors of the two productions.

...erini's work is the story of greedy members of a family working to benefit through will of a rich relative who just died. They attempt to win the will through the will of Gianni Schicchi, when find their relative has given his wealth to the nearby monks. THE "MEDIUM" is a tragedy of the characters build up to the surprise ending of the comedy.

In contrast, "The Medium," a contemporary work first performed in 1949, is a tragedy. Madame Flora is a medium who in a seance actually seems to have some super-natural contact. She accuses her young mute assistant, Toby, of trying to frighten her.

THE "TERROR-stricken medium and young Toby's inability to speak and defend himself lead to the tragic ending of the opera. "The Medium" stars Lila J. Kitchen as Madame Flora, with Steven Grove, the mute, and Carene C. Jordan, the girl he loves. Leading in "Gianni Schicchi" is Lynn Detweiler.

giant step into the highly competitive show business came when he joined the orchestra of Rudy Vallee as featured pianist. THE YOUNG pianist's popularity soared after he began making records, the first of which was "Dancing in the Dark," followed by "Getting Sentimental Over You," "All the Things You Are," "I'll See You in My Dreams," "Strauss Waltzes" and others.

He later formed his own orchestra. Then in 1959, after many years as pianist and orchestra leader, he disbanded his orchestra and decided to perform as a soloist.

Cavallaro was chosen to play the score for the "Eddy Duchin Story" and his soundtrack album from the movie was his biggest success. Recently a new album, "The Franz Liszt Story," was released and it is already listed as one of the artist's great albums.

Nurses Show Advancement In Technique

One hundred three years of nursing are being celebrated by the Brigham Young University nursing dept. Two manikins, representing Florence Nightingale and the modern nurse, are on display on the main floor of the Smith Family Living Center.

NURSING, according to its founder, Miss Nightingale, is "a mighty influence against man's cruelty to man." Today Joseph F. Smith, president of the Council of the Twelve of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, says, "We can uplift and ameliorate the conditions of mankind; it is our mission to do so."

Miss Nightingale was at the top of her career in 1857 during the Crimean War.

TODAY MODERN nursing areas include hospital nursing, public health nursing, nursing education, occupational nursing and military service. It has taken great strides since 1857. Marian Collier, an assistant professor of nursing in Salt Lake City, was the chairman of the exhibit committee. Her committee members included Mildred Allred and Lucille Bennion, nursing instructors.

Richardson, Ruff, Wood Take Leads in 'Sand' Play

Three male concert and opera stars have been signed for leads in "Sand in Their Shoes," gigantic musical play scheduled May 27, 28, 30, 31, and June 1 in Brigham Young University stadium.

They are Walter L. Richardson, leading tenor of the St. Louis Municipal Opera Company; Howard Ruff, baritone who has appeared around the world as soloist with the U. S. Air Force Band, the Singing Sergeants, and on radio, TV; and Ray Wood, bass, radio star formerly with Sacramento Civil Light Opera.

RICHARDSON, RUFF AND Wood all appeared in the previous performances last year which played to 45,000 spectators for five nights. However, according to Dr. Hansen, the 1960 show has been streamlined and brightened.

"Sand in Their Shoes" is based on the book of the Mormon Battalion and has been adapted to the huge stadium setting by Dr. Harold L. Hansen, director of the book by Don Ocarson. A BYU graduate in history there will be seven leading roles, supported by a cast of hundreds.

TICKETS are on sale at the BYU Fieldhouse ticket office or from LDS bishops and stake presidents.

Dr. Richardson's operatic career started at BYU. His first performance was the leading tenor role in "Gypsy Baron" under the direction of Dr. Don Earl. After leaving BYU, he obtained the doctorate at Pacific University in Oregon.

HE HAS appeared in leading cities throughout the United States and on television and radio network shows. He had an extended engagement at "Chor Luce" in New York City, and has appeared with the St. Louis Municipal Opera Company for the past three seasons.

Ruff entered the U. S. Air Force in 1955 and for four years was vocal soloist with the USAF Band. During this time he appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show, Colgate Comedy Hour, with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, National Symphony Orchestra, and on shows of many television stars.

WOOD was an art major at BYU and has sung professionally for six years. He was guest artist on NBC National Talent Show coast to coast and spent a season with the Sacramento Civil Light Opera.

Chessman Awaits Call Of Death

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., May 2 — (UPI) — Convict Arthur Chessman spent the last 17 years in a cell just 13 steps from San Quentin's gas chamber.

The cell was six floors below death row, where the 38-year-old kidnaper-robber spent 12 years in his controversial feud with death.

YESTERDAY afternoon he was taken to the death watch cell, where he exchanged his prison denim for a white shirt and blue jeans.

He was allowed visitors. Two of his attorneys, George T. Davis and Rosalie Asher, were in conference with Chessman until early today.

OTHER VISITORS, including prison officials and chaplains, were expected today. THE CONDEMNED man said he didn't want an elaborate "last meal." He said he preferred "sandwich or a coke or something."

Coffee and a radio were available throughout the night, but Chessman said he would "write some letters, take a few minutes to have a few memories, and make some final evaluations." At 9:30 a.m., he was scheduled for a physical examination, and a half-hour later he was to be strapped into one of the two chairs in the gas chamber.

"I intend to walk into the gas chamber and sit down and die with dignity," Chessman said.

Florence Nightingale . . . costume dates back to Crimean War era. The modern nurse . . . typifies dates back to modern hospital workers today.

'Religion in America' Tells Pastor Pay

by Louis Casella
United Press International

It should not be news to anyone that preachers are underpaid.

But some church members may be surprised—even shocked—to learn just how poorly the average minister is reimbursed for his 60 to 80 hour work week.

SOME enlightening figures are at hand from a survey conducted recently by the Methodist Church, the nation's largest Protestant body.

Questionnaires were sent to 900 Methodist ministers selected on a "sampling" basis to represent all parts of the country and all types and sizes of local churches.

THE AVERAGE cash salary of the ministers covered by the survey was $3,288. By clergy standards, this is high. Other surveys covering many denominations have indicated that the average salary for all U. S. Protestant pastors is around $4,500.

So the first thing to bear in mind about this survey is that it deals with a group of ministers who are a little bit better off than most of their colleagues.

EVEN SO, the questionnaires tell a bleak story.

Three-fourths of the Methodist parsons said they are currently in debt. In each case, some financial crisis—big medical bills, a child entering college or something of that sort—has pushed the precariously-balanced family budget into the red. The average indebtedness is $1,871, which is enough for even a man of faith to worry about.

IN THE light of these figures, it seems truly remarkable that not one of the ministers in the survey plans to give up his vocation in order to seek a living wage in an easier job.

All said they came into the ministry because they felt God had called them to that service, and they intend to stick it out regardless of the sacrifices involved for themselves and their families.

AND WE DO THIS TO OURSELVES

No war crippled this man—nor thousands more injured day after day in traffic accidents. For this highway butchery, only we ourselves are to blame. We disregard laws made to protect us. Nearly every accident grows out of some violation. And casualties mount! They will lessen only if you help. So drive safely. Obey the law. Insist others do, too. Where traffic laws are strictly obeyed, accidents go down!

FACE THIS FACT

Drivers are the No. 1 cause of traffic accidents which last year killed 14,000,000 and injured 38,000. This year an increase is threatened. How long must this go on? YOU can supply the answer.

It was the third win without a loss for the Cougars in league competition, and their fifth win for the season against two losses.

The win leaves Utah and BYU tied for the division lead. The two clubs haven't met yet, but will square off in two weeks.

THE LONE BYU loss came when Mike Hogerty won the number one singles match from the Y's top player, Richard Dixon, 6-1, 6-3.

BYU Divides Twinbill, Loses Ground to Utes

MISSOULA—Coch. Glen Tuckett's baseliners lost a little more ground to twin-running Utah this weekend as they split a twinbill with Montana Friday while the Utes were taking two from USU.

The Cougars dropped the opener to the Grizzlies by a 10-2 score, but came back strong to win the nightcap 13-10 and retain their number two spot in the Division pennant chase.

BOB MOSTELLER went the route for the Cats in winning the second contest. He allowed just nine hits with three coming off a home run clout by Terry Screener.

BYU unleashed a home run derby of its own in the second contest with Jim Pierson and Roland Bevel both connecting for four-baggers.

In all, the Cats connected for 13 safeties in the winning effort,
